DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1 and 7-9, and 11-31, and 33-44, and 46-65 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Flynn et al. (20030191509). Flynn et al. disclose a system and method for configuring a medical device by generating a medical device database having information about a plurality of medical device components, therefore a dynamic configuration system and a configuration option available for each component therefore a component-specific data distributor and extractor [0023]. The system allows user to input data to select device components, processing the extractable component-specific configuration data extracted at each component, and configuring an electronic representation of a custom medical device based on the user-selected components and options. The system may also include a database of images corresponding to each medical device component [0012]. Flynn et al. teach said medical device database to contain information about medical device components and information about configuration options for each component, where the database includes a set of configuration rules determining the interdependencies of the components and options available for each component [0025].

3. Claims 2-6, 32, and 45 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Flynn et al. in view of Schmitt. Flynn et al. teach obtaining medical image data but do not explicitly teach the use of the specific modalities. In the same field of endeavor Schmitt discloses a medical diagnostic system, method, and computer program with means for reading a component-specific code allocated to each individual device component to extract, distribute, and broadcast the component specific data and controlled by the control arrangement (abstract, col. 1 lines 45-60). The system includes a dynamic configuration for the plurality of medical diagnostic components with means for reading a mechanical, electrical, electro-optical, acoustical, and a magnetic code (fig. 2-6). The medical diagnostic imaging components such as x-ray, MRI, or ultrasound components and therefore the dynamic configuration system is operable within a plurality of medical modalities for cross-modality deployment (col. 3 lines 6-14). It would have therefore been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use the teaching by Schmitt to modify the teaching by Flynn et al. for the purpose of configuring a plurality of medical diagnostic components comprising imaging components.
